29. That the defendant City of New York was responsible for ensuring that reasonable and appropriate levels of supervision were in place within and over the NYPD.

30 Defendant New York City had actual or constructive Knowledge that there was inadequate supervision over and/or within the NYPD with respect to its members abuse of their authority, abuse of arrest powers and other blatant violations of the United States Constitution and rules and regulations of the NYPD. Despite ample notice and/or Knowledge of inadequate supervision, defendants took no steps to ensure that reasonable and appropriate levels of supervision were put in place to ensure that NYPD members engaged in police conduct in a lawful and proper manner, inclusive of use of their authority as law enforcement officers with respect to the general public and specifically the plaintiff herein. 31 The defendant City of New York deliberately and intentionally. Chose not to take action to correct the chronic, systemic and Institutional misuse and abuse of police authority by its NYPD employees and thereby deliberately and intentionally adopted .. Condoned and otherwise created through deliberate inaction and negligent supervision and NYPD policy, practice and custom of and manufacturing of evidence in the ordinary course of MPD. business in flagrant disrogard of the state and federal constitutions; as well as the Patrol Guide, up to and beyond plaintiffs arrest. 32. That all of the acts and omissions by the defendant officers. described above were carried out pursuant to overlapping policies and practices of the municipal defendant in their capacities as police officers and officials pursuant to customs, policies, NYPD, all under the supervision of ranking officers of the The existence of the unconstitutional customs and policies may be inferred from repeated occurrences of similar wrongful conduct, as documented in a long history of civil actions in state and federal courts. 34. In an order dated Nov. 25, 2009, in Colon v. City of New York, 09 CV 0008 (EDNY), the court held that: Informal inquiry by the court and among the judges of this court, as well as knowledge of cases in other Federal and State Courts, has revealed anecdotal evidence of repeated, widespread falsification by arresting police officers of the New York Police Department. Despite numerous Inquiries by Commissions and strong reported efforts by the present administration - through selection of candidates for the police force stressing academic and other qualifications, serious training to avoid constitutional violations, and strong disciplinary action within the department - there is some evidence of an attitude among officers that is sufficiently widespread to constitute a custom or policy by the city approving illegal conduct of the Kind now charged. 35. That on more than half of the occasions where the Civilian Review Board refers substanciated complaints against Officers to the NYPD for disciplinary action, the NYPD either simply issues a verbal warning or drops the charges altogether. 36. That the defendant New York City has not only tolerated, but actively fostered a lawless atmosphere within the NYPD and that the City of New York was deliberately indifferent to the risk and the inadequate level of supervision would lead to violation of individuals constitutional rights in general, and caused the violation of plaintiffs rights in particular. 3% The actions of all defendants, acting under color of state law, deprived plaintiff of his rights, priveleges and immunities under the laws and constitution of the United States; in particular, the rights to be secure in his person and property, to be free from the excessive use of force and malicious prosecution, abuse of process, and the right to due process. 38. By these actions, defendants have deprived plaintiff of rights

Secured by the 4th, 5th, and 14th Amendments to the United States Constitution, in Violation of 42 U.S.C. section 1983. 39. This action has been commenced within 3 years of the termination and dismissal of docket #2012Ny016293 upon which the claim is based. As a first Cause of Action: Against Each Defendant Officer False Arrest and False Inprisonment Under 42 U.S.C. 51983/New York State Law 40. By this reference, plaintiffs incorporates each and every allegation and averment set forth in paragraphs I through 39 of this complaint as though fully set forth here in 41. The arrest, detention and imprisonment of plaintiffs were without just or probable cause and without any warrant or legal process directing or authorizing the plaintiffs arrest or subsequent detention. 42. As a result of plaintiff's false arrest and inprisonment, they have been caused to suffer humiliation, great mental and physical anguish, embarrassment and scorn among those who know them, were prevented from attending to their necessary affairs, have incurred legal expenses, failed in paying bills and otherwize damaged in character and reputation. Consequently, plaintiffs have been damaged and hereby demands compensatory and punitive damages in the amount of $450,000, and for an amount to be proven at trial against each of the defendants, individually and severally. Ate The defendant officers were at all material times acting within the Scope of their employment, and as such, the defendant city is Vicariously liable for the defendant officers acts as described above. This action falls within one or more of the exceptions of the New York State Civil Practice Law and Rules $1602.

As a result of the actions of the defendants the plaintiff was deprived of his rights, priveleges, and immunities secured by the United States Constitution, in particular the 4th, 5th, and 14th Amendments, in contravention of 42 U.S.C. $ 1983 and the laws of New York State, and New York City without just or legal cause when defendant City of New York, by it's employees and/or agents unlawfully arrested and imprisoned the plaintiff thereby depriving him of his liberty with due process of law. 93. The detendant officers were the actual agents of the defendant City of New York and were following the customs, practices, ordinances and/or regulations of the City of New York when they violated the plaintiff's - Constitutional and Civil rights, and the City of NewYork is therefore responsible for their acts, and liable to the plaintiff for the damages he suffered.

The actual principal/agent relationship between the defendant city of New York and the defendant officers was created by the fact they were employees of defendant city, and the city had right to, and it did indeed regulate and control the activities and conduct of defendant officers.

The defendant officers actions were vicious, wicked, coul, cold hearted, intentional, malicious, unwarranted and in violation of the law. The individual defendants had full Knowledge that the charges were false and untrue.
